eviCore EAP is a benefit provided to you by your employer to help you address stressful situations. Some personal issues can impair workplace performance and seriously impact overall health, well-being, and productivity.

- We want to share our exciting news. On February 1st, Palladian Health, the parent company of Palladian EAP, was acquired by eviCore healthcare. eviCore is a medical benefit management company committed to empowering the improvement of care by connecting patients, providers, and payers with intelligent, evidence-based solutions to enable better outcomes.
- What does this mean for the services you are currently receiving from Palladian EAP? There will be no change to your current contracted benefit package and no change to the EAP team with whom you have already developed working relationships. We are however, rolling out our new name, eviCore EAP, as part of a rebranding initiative.
- We are excited by the opportunity to consult with an organization that has proven expertise providing high-value services for healthcare customers. Such access will help us improve our EAP customer experience and ensure we continue to meet the highest provider standards.
- Be assured our commitment to service excellence that you have come to expect will continue to be a top priority for us.
- As always, please do not hesitate to call us with any questions or concerns you might have.
